The iTurfExpo is the Illinois Turfgrass Foundation's (ITF) exciting new venture utilizing our resources provided at the Midwest Golf House Complex. As an education center, the Midwest Golf House Complex includes finely manicured grounds, annual flower trials, a golf course, a turf laboratory, a research facility and more. iTurfExpo was developed to share this tremendous resource and wealth of information with turf professionals across all trades.

OPPORTUNITY

The iTurfExpo provides you the unique opportunity to learn in the environment in which you work. Growing turf is an outdoor sport; therefore, the iTurfExpo offers you the playing field to get your game in shape.

AFFORDABLE

Registration includes access to the iTurfExpo for both days - Tuesday, August 25 and Wednesday, August 26. Each day will offer different research stops, equipment and product demonstrations, exhibits, education and always the opportunity to network. Lunch will be offered each day at an additional cost and can be purchased with registration.

VALUE

Many discussions have been centered around the word value in recent times, and rightfully so. The iTurfExpo will make you a better turf manager, a better turf grower, and a better turf professional by providing you with pertinent, timely and sensible information you can incorporate into your management program. Sharing information is the core mission of the ITF, and the iTurfExpo is the new conduit for this to occur.

RESEARCH

Come and see first hand ITF funded unbiased research presented by the CDGA, U of I and SIU. Base your future decisions on solid information. Research presentations will vary each day and include: fungicide selection, organic fertilizers, Poa annua control, herbicide trials, turf variety trials, foliar nutrition and more.
